That ball game turned out to be perhaps the greatest match in the history of sport. World Heavyweight Boxing Champion Evander Holyfield beat 20-0 South African Kevin McBride in the second round of their December 1994 fight at the Chicago Stadium. Holyfield became the first boxer to win the heavyweight championship of the world three times. "From South Africa to winning world championships, it's all very important to me," said Holyfield, who holds two belts - the WBC and IBF - at 45. It was one of the most eagerly anticipated matches ever and the atmosphere was electric. And while it's fair to say the state of the heavyweight division is not exactly healthy at present, it has been a long time since the sport's big battlers had such a prestigious contest on the calendar. The fight was a watershed in American boxing. No longer just a sport for skinny middle-aged men, the heavyweight division has become a viable draw.
