Shahbaz Ali's Profile | Top Rank Boxing "Win or lose, I have done my duty." Shahbaz Ali's Mission: To Fight "It's Not A Game" This December, 25 year old, Shahbaz Ali will embark on his sixth professional boxing match, his fifth inside the squared circle, against local tough guy Enver Styazhi in a battle between "It's Not A Game" and "Don't Get It Twisted." Ali is no stranger to the ring. After four years of hard work and dedication, he will finally fight for a world title. Raised in the slums of Jalandhar by a single mother, Ali struggled to find his way into this world. He was an easy target for bullies. While attending a local school, Ali would often see the "big shots" forcing other students to kneel at the ground. Ali did not let this deter him from becoming a boxer. He continued to study hard to get into college. However, his community-spirit wasn't deterred by the school. A chor (local community leader) of the area, Ali would often work with the young boys and kids in the area. He would support them on their way to school. He truly believed that in order for him to succeed, others need to be successful as well. One day, the bully took it too far. He began beating the chor up. Ali intervened and fought back. "This is when I realized that I could either stand down or stand up and defend myself," said Ali. "I was a kid like them. I was bullied because of my background. I wanted to stand up and fight back. I realized that my life really doesn't have a purpose if
