I thought about getting an 'emulate' the classic NES' but seeing as it's already Nes and compatible with the GBA I went for this one. It's my first buy from Japan and I'm blown away by the quality and service - I didn't really expect this to turn out so well. I'm not too sure about the design as I'm a sucker for the pink colour in the GBA. I'm not fussed about the face buttons as far as I can remember and the screen looks to be a SONY/PowerVR chip. I thought the controls would be very confusing for a first time buyer but I'm happy to go through the manual and learn as I go - I feel like a newbie again. The only problem is that I can't imagine myself actually playing the game with the joy pad as it's a bit of a pain to work. I'm a bit worried that the game is going to be quite hard as I'm a bit of a klutz with video games. I bought Mario Land on the GBA but I took my time to learn how
